DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-14, drawn to a lock, classified in class 37, subclass 457.
  - II. Claims 15-21, drawn to a wear assembly, classified in class 37, subclass 452.
  - III. Claims 22-31, drawn to a wear member, classified in class 37, subclass 454.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:
3. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination, the wear assembly, recites that the lock have the limitations of a body including a front wall, a rear wall, a hole, a take-up element, a threaded member being received in the hole, means for impeding loosening of the threaded member, and means for impeding loosening of the wear member.

In comparison, the subcombination describing the lock has the limitations of a body including a front wall, a rear wall, and a hole; a threaded member; a resilient member; and a retainer. The subcombination has separate utility such as a nut for securing a bolt.

4. Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination, the wear assembly, recites that the wear member have the limitation of fitting with a boss to protect a structure from wear.

In comparison, the subcombination describing the wear assembly has the limitations of the surface including a boss, the wear member comprising an interior side with a slot, an exterior wear surface, and a curved lock-receiving passage. The subcombination has separate utility such as the body of a padlock or a latching mechanism.

Art Unit: 3671

5. Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as a nut for securing a bolt, and invention III has separate utility such as a padlock body. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Conclusion
